Tomasz Stańko

"It's a fine line between introspection and shoegazing, and trumpeter Tomasz Stańko straddles it well on his new disc, Lontano. Stańko is a difficult fellow to criticize. A Polish jazz leader for three and a half decades, Stańko has left an impressive body of work in his wake. On Lontano, his quartet continues the ideas that have served him well—airy constructions, pensive arrangements and a relaxed approach. Stańko's is a patient kind of music, one that demands undivided attention. Yet the music is so quiet, so delicate, that at times it falls prey to its own preciousness."
